QUEERS, MIGRANTS, DEVIANTS & BARELY LEGAL PEOPLE IN GENERAL

MUSIC

AYS is part of a long tradition of latines in House which dates to the very origins of electronic music. Through vinyl-based selection the sets are built from legacy House Music specially marked by elegant acid bass lines, irreverent vocals, and driving percussions.

Our residents Feasting, Gio Goltara and Pleasure work in B2Bs and all-nighters aiming to create a tapestry of sound that becomes authorial, de-centering the DJ as a figure and placing the music on the foreground. We see this as a contemporary form of inhabiting the genre while looking at our past, imprinting our heritage into the music.

We try to promote the idea of a Latin American music that exists beyond trends and caricatures. Rather than being trapped in the genre boxes of colonial simplifications, for us, House Music is memory before it is sound.

MAY DAY RAVE™ PERPETRATORS

The May Day Rave is an intentional and disruptive act of queering public space, a statement to keep club culture accessible on International Workers' Day. What began as a small gathering has grown into one of Berlin's recurring underground rituals, drawing over 2,000 attendees annually. Accessibility, mutual care, and DIY production are embedded in every event.

BRAZILIAN WAX

At Your Service to Take Away

Brazilian Wax was created as a mix series and label to invite artists to take their practice out of the dancefloor. The platform brings artists from the Global South and Berlin's local scene into closer exchange, while opening the music to different contexts beyond the club. The mix series is intended and curated for sex dates and afters while the releases focuses on House Music's legacy beyond trends, bridging sounds across the Atlantic.
Brazilian Wax is diverse in style but consistent in one thing: warmth.

BIO

AT YOUR SERVICE

At Your Service is a queer Berlin-based party and collective built by the usual suspects: hustling South Americans working across DJing, event production, and independent music platforms.

Emerging from the legacy of Coven, a previous incarnation born from illegal parties and one of Berlin's first post-lockdown queer open air raves, At Your Service has become a distinct voice within the city's underground, building unpretentious and financially accessible dancefloors.
